Our Worst Enemies.

Next to our vices are our follies. Among the chief is the imperilling of future bodily comfort and the average tenure of life to which persons of moderately good constitutions are presumably entitled by imprudence in eating and drinking and the reckless use of drugs. It is one of the happy capabilities of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters that it can repair damage thus inflicted. When the blood is thin and watery, the bowels out of order, the complexion and tongue both giving evidence of biliousness, there is a necessity for repairs upon the human tenement obvious enough to startle its possessor. A course of the Bitters, the abandonment of drugging for relief and a common sense diet and mode of life—these will speedily produce a change for the better. What quinine for fever and ague and mercury for biliousness and constipation won't do, the Bitters will. It also relieves rheumatism and neuralgia and [illegible] the kidneys.

WASHINGTON.

The Senate Considers the Northern Pacific Forfeiture Bill.

A LIVELY SCENE IN THE HOUSE

Two Marylanders Create an Uproar over the Civil Service Law—Cleveland Declines a Present—A Prince Coming—Etc

SENATE

WASHINGTON June 11.—In the senate W[illegible] gave notice that on the next legislative day he would call up for the purpose of making some remarks [illegible] bill to promote the political and commercial prosperity of the [illegible] [illegible]. This is Frye's bill providing for a [illegible].

On motion of Dolph the senate then took up the Northern Pacific land forfeiture bill.

[illegible] addressed the senate in the bill, [illegible] the enormous quantity of [illegible] acres given by congress [illegible] corporation [illegible] said was larger [illegible] land than that constituting the republic of France or the empire of Germany. The present value of the railroad land grants [illegible]. The Northern Pacific [illegible] congress [illegible] that the company had power to build [illegible] [illegible] George [illegible] that legislation as [illegible] stock watering [illegible] with the Northern Pacific [illegible] George [illegible] that the watering [illegible] compared with that [illegible] morning dew [illegible] with the falls of Niagara. The company had issued $80,000,000 of stock to represent [illegible] of completed road. Regarding the [illegible] that they would develop the country George alluded to the fact which [illegible] admitted by the Northern Pacific [illegible] that the company's trains refused to stop at a flourishing town in Washington territory, the largest in that section, in order that its greed for money to build up a town of its own four miles away might be gratified. In that way it crushed the citizens of the old town and persisted in its refusal to stop its trains at the old town till the courts compelled them to stop. Should the senators go on and by criminal neglect of their duties allow this company to become owner of an area of land equal to two states? He protested against any faithlessness on the part of congress. He made this protest on behalf of millions of homeless people of the United States.

Logan from the committee on appropriations reported the army appropriation bill, and it was placed on the calendar.

Cullom from the committee on territories reported adversely the bill which passed the house several weeks ago to increase the jurisdiction of the probate courts of Arizona territory.

Teller said he would vote for forfeiture of all lands coterminous with uncompleted portions of the road. Congress however, had to deal with the law and was bound by the law. As to the statement that the republican party had given a very large amount of public lands since 1861 Mr Teller said it was true that the number of acres given since 1860 was greater than had been given before, but the money value of lands given by the democratic party before 1860 for railroads and under military and naval warrants and the swamp act was fourfold greater than what had been given since 1860. The grant in the Northern Pacific case had been held to be a grant in præsenti and if title had become vested by law—congress could not divest it.

THE VIEWS OF SHERMAN.

Sherman admitted that the company had forfeited the grant of their lands so far as they had not completed the road. He would not in any case vote to forfeit the grant where the road had been completed even after the time fixed for its completion. Such a proposition would be grossly inequitable because the rights of third parties intervened. Congress not only did not forfeit the lands in 18[illegible] when it had an undoubted right to forfeit them, but allowed the company to go on and build its roads and the government had accepted the road piece by piece as it had been built. The grant thus became complete and absolute and it would be a great wrong now to forfeit lands that had been earned.

He regarded the failure referred to as [illegible] estoppel.

Van Wyck asked how it could be an equitable estoppel when the company had repeatedly asked Congress to extend the time for building the road and congress refused to do so.

Sherman said he [illegible] nothing to do with it. He believed Van Wyck's amendment would have in effect [illegible] opposite [illegible] that intended. He Sherman admitted the right of congress to forfeit [illegible] the incomplete portion of the Cascade mountain branch but it would be bad policy to forfeit it because [illegible] [illegible] incomplete [illegible] branch [illegible] building [illegible] through the [illegible] the [illegible] of which was of [illegible] the growing commerce of the northwest. If this bill passed as Sherman said [illegible] would be placed on record [illegible] the expenditure of [illegible] back land [illegible] was not worth $[illegible]. Thus the people of the Northwest would be denied connection with [illegible] across the Cascade range. As to the [illegible] watering of stock referred to by George Sherman said there was more water in George's statement than in the railroad company's stock. Sherman said all the Northern Pacific stock referred to by George would not sell for the $80,000,000 cash actually paid into it. That road had been a very bad investment for those who had put money into it.

Mitchell asked whether it is a question of fact [illegible] congress could now forfeit the lands if it had happened that the road had now been entirely completed.

OPINION OF EUSTIS

Eustis said there was but one answer. Where an estate was to be acquired by fulfillment of a condition there could be no such thing as fulfillment of that condition by implication. Fulfillment must be full and complete before a legal estate could pass. These railroad men Eustis continued had made fortunes as mushrooms grow in a night. A coterie of such men had enriched themselves at the expense of the people of the United States. They did not observe equity, honesty, or good faith, and only came here to assert their legal rights and to defy the authority and power of congress and the people of the United States to deal with them. The great question to-day was whether the government was superior to the corporations or the corporations superior to the government. The corporations had exhibited shameless and unpardonable oppression and extortion as well as effrontery in their dealings with the people and the government of the United States. Our people and our country were only able to stand the drafts made on their liberality because they were yet young and strong, and [illegible]. Eustis advocated forfeiture of every acre of land that had not been earned according to the strict limitations and conditions imposed in the grant. The bill then went over till to-morrow.

Spooner took the floor and in offering a resolution of condolence on the death of Hon. Joseph Rankin late representative in congress of the state of Wisconsin delivered an eloquent and touching tribute to the memory of deceased. The senate then adjourned till to morrow.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON June 11.—On motion of O'Neill of Missouri the senate bill similar to the one introduced in the house by O'Neill was passed to legalize the incorporation of national trades unions.

Private business having been dispensed with a session was ordered for to-night for consideration of the legislative appropriation bill and a session for to-morrow night for consideration of pension bills.

Cobb of Indiana, from the committee on public lands reported back the Atlantic & Pacific land forfeiture bill with senate amendment and moved concurrence in the amendments. No action was taken, and the motion went over until Monday.

The house then went into committee of the whole Blount of Georgia in the chair on the legislative executive and judicial appropriation bill.

In discussion of paragraphs relating to committee clerks Morrison of Illinois ironically referring to the reduction of salaries claimed by Holman to have been made in the bill called attention to the fact that $1800 was appropriated for an assistant clerk to the committee on appropriations when there was no law which prevented a reduction being made. Holman said that the sum had been appropriated in former years but expressed a willingness to vote for a reduction if Morrison made the motion.

The two gentlemen then engaged in a colloquy which amused the members, and upon Holman's [illegible] to answer a question propounded by Morrison that gentleman exclaimed: "I was not asking you if you are not an economist but the standard of the gentleman from Indiana."

Cobb of Indiana offered an amendment making an appropriation for the first assistant doorkeeper of the house, but not to make any provision for the office which is now filled by Luther H Warder.

Howard of Indiana opposed the amendment [and] protested against legislating Warder out of office. The amendment was rejected.

Allen of Mississippi offered an amendment providing that none of the money appropriated for contingent funds should be used in paying the expenses of the funeral of any member of congress. The amendment was rejected 12 to 78.

THE PRESIDENT'S SALARY

The clause appropriating for the salary of the president [illegible] shall be paid [illegible]. [illegible] [illegible] change as recommended by the committee [illegible] the latter portion of the bill. A point of order having been raised against it [illegible] Payne [illegible] that it was germane to the bill at this point.

Findlay of Maryland said that the provision whether in the form presented by the gentleman from Pennsylvania or in its original form was a proposition conceived in a spirit of the [illegible] for the boldest purposes of the [illegible]. There was no man here who [illegible] that it was subject to a point of order and therefore would be thrust out of the bill as an irrelevant and immaterial [illegible]. [illegible] the senate that body would [illegible] the full list of [illegible] to give partisan aid [illegible] the civil service [illegible] conjectural speculation [illegible] [illegible].

A WILD SCENE

[illegible] of Maryland said that [illegible] democrat [illegible] Findlay had said [illegible] (Applause on the democratic side.)

In the confusion the house was in an uproar [illegible] Mr Findlay was heard [illegible] his colleague meant to say that he associated with scalawags and scoundrels.

Speaker Carlisle who was in the chamber approached the speaker's desk and was apparently [illegible] the demonstration became more threatening [illegible]. After a further debate largely of a personal character between the Maryland representatives, Bayne's amendment was ruled out of order and some little discussion [illegible] as to the proper mode of appropriating for the salary of the presiding officer of the senate. It was finally agreed to strike out the clause appropriating $8000 as the salary of the vice-president and to appropriate $8000 to pay [illegible] senator as might be selected to preside over the senate.

The civil service section having been reached Morrison made a point of order against the provision changing the rules of the commission and pending decision the committee rose.

EVENING SESSION.

When the house met this evening, it immediately went into committee of the whole on the legislative appropriation bill but owing to a small attendance of members the civil service clause was passed over until to-morrow.

On motion of Holman the salary of the public printer was reduced from $4500 to $4000. Agreed.

CONTEST FOR GUARDIANSHIP

SAN FRANCISCO June 11.—Judge Levy sitting in probate court this morning decided an application for letters of guardianship of the persons and estates of Edgar M. and Jessie S. Ward aged [illegible] and [illegible] years respectively. The minors are children of Dr. D W Ward, a physician residing at Forest Grove, Or. Their mother died recently leaving an estate worth $8000, and appointing her brother A. C. Mathison trustee with instructions to use the money for the support and education of the children. She left a written request that her husband be excluded from the guardianship of their persons and estate. The father testified in court that he did not desire the guardianship of the children but that he wanted his friend George Yung appointed. The daughter preferred Yung and the son [illegible] that his uncle [illegible]. Judge Levy settled the difficulty by awarding letters of guardianship to D. W. Ward [illegible] daughter and letters to Mr Mathison on the son and estate [illegible].

[illegible] DESERTION

SAN FRANCISCO June 11.—[illegible] six seamen of the brigantine Selina, charged with desertion by leaving the vessel twenty-four hours before sailing, were convicted by the jury [illegible] Martin, J Bernard, James Smith, Jake Daniel, and Olaf Johansen. [illegible] testimony was to the effect that the men had shipped by the shipping commissioner and had come to work on the vessel. On Friday afternoon [illegible] ordered the men ashore stating as a reason that the union had decided to boycott all the vessels in which Spreckels & Co are interested on account of the trouble on the [illegible]. The men obeyed the order and on the [illegible] were arrested. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty without leaving their seats. Judge Hoffman thereupon sentenced the men to [illegible] months imprisonment in the county jail with a [illegible] of their wages while on the vessel.

A COUNTY CLERK KILLS HIMSELF

OROVILLE June 11.—County clerk Frank Leachy who took a dose of morphine yesterday with suicidal intent died to-day from the effects of the drug. His bondsmen had refused to remain on his bond [illegible] to the discovery of a defalcation [illegible] which had however, been promptly settled.

A Southern Outburst

Macon Telegraph

When Mrs Grover Cleveland [illegible] her state soirees down the White house stairs Thursday evening, arrayed in a morning gown that is looped up in front by a [illegible] down behind and trimmed in $800 worth of lace, Jeffersonian simplicity will be worth travelling 2000 miles to see. Hurrah!

With teeth all stained, and loose, I thought
That nothing could be begged or bought
To cure them, and I cried, in pain,
"O would that they were good again!"
At last let songs of praise go round
A cure [illegible] SOZODONT I found.

THE BELFAST RIOTS.

Desperate Battles between the Police and the Mob.

MANY MEN KILLED AND INJURED

Orangemen Continue their Mad Work of Pillage Arson and Cruelty—The Home Rule Question—A Statement by Parnell

BELFAST June 11.—The associated press reporter [illegible] remain on the scene of the riots at [illegible] o'clock this morning reported as follows: I remained [illegible] the rioters all night. The greatest damage in the way of wrecking and shooting was [illegible] Shankhill and Corn road. The fighting in these thoroughfares was desperate and [illegible]. The mob was composed of the lowest [illegible] bayonets the police had no terror for them and in many cases I saw the mob in overwhelming numbers press up against the bayonets [illegible] and drive them back. The only instances in which the police drove the mob at all so far as I could observe were those in which the officers [illegible] fire at close range rapid volleys of [illegible]shot. There the rioters could not stand and they were driven back. Even [illegible] the rioters would dash to [illegible] rushing upon the police while they were [illegible]. It is impossible to describe the [illegible] under which the respectable Catholic people of Belfast are now living in consequence of the prevalent anarchy of bigotry. The brave [illegible] hardly dare to venture out of doors in the daytime. I know that scores of people were shot during last night's riots. I saw ten taken to the hospital this morning. It is feared that every further [illegible] of the riots may prove the fresh rioting.

The law abiding citizens demand of the government the appointment of a special commission to inquire into the causes of the wholesale disorder. Fighting of this kind at such close range [illegible] continued until [illegible] o'clock this morning. When daylight began to dawn so many of the rioters disappeared as to leave the mob insufficient strength to longer cope with the armed police, who succeeded in dispersing it.

My observation shows that the mob last night was composed of the very scum of Belfast. I saw [illegible] throw stones weighing fifteen and twenty pounds. I even saw fiends hurling rocks at the gallant policemen who were imperiling their lives in attempting to save buildings from destruction by incendiarism and the helpless inmates from horrible death. If anything else were wanting to prove the character of the mob it could be furnished by [illegible] dozens of men I saw through the night dealing away from the wrecked and burning buildings [illegible] down with loot.

THE SCENES ON THURSDAY NIGHT

BELFAST June 11.—Last night was less disastrous than on Wednesday. After their day labor [illegible] thousands of workingmen gathered in the vicinity of the Bower Hill police station. They execrated the police and cried out: "We will have ten lives for every one of the murdered." The city police were then withdrawn and some well known local constabulary were sent to reason with the mob. The latter demanded the withdrawal of all the police. Archbishop Levre and several Presbyterian clergymen after this [illegible] the mob to disperse. Those addresses proved altogether useless and even while the clergymen were speaking the rioters kept up desultory stone throwing at the police. One stone struck an officer in the face and hurt him severely. Capt. [illegible] resident magistrate who was present [illegible] was struck by a brickbat on the head.

When the preachers ceased the mob surged into the barracks and defied the police to come and take a square fight. Things went on in this way until about 10 o'clock, when two troops of dragoons galloped up. They were followed by 300 infantry. These men had been under arms seven hours. The mob was for a moment powerless with surprise and dispersed. The rioters soon however became ashamed of themselves and returned to the scene. The troops had taken complete possession of the streets around the barracks and cordoned them effectively. The mob realizing the impregnability of the police position [illegible] paraded in sections cursing the pope [illegible] home rule, and singing "The Orange [illegible]" and "Rule Britannia."

ANOTHER MOB

While all this was going on at the Bower Hill barracks a mob had taken possession of York street. They first concentrated in front of a wine store kept by a Catholic named McKenna. The building was soon sacked and wrecked and all of McKenna's stock of wines was emptied in the street. This mob then proceeded to McCloskey's tavern. They [illegible] taken warning and got there first. A set fight took place. It was waged with desperation on both sides. The police fired twenty six rounds of buckshot at the rioters but the mob finally drove them away and smashed McCloskey's tavern to pieces distributing the [illegible] liquors to all who could drink or carry liquor away.

Several of the rioters were wounded in this fight and were left helpless in the street by their companions who maddened with liquor and excitement [illegible] to the work of wreck and pillage. A number of taverns were destroyed and all their stock [illegible] wine whisky and beer thrown out to the crowd [illegible] the streets who drank ravenously or carried it away in jugs or buckets. In the latter work women and children were engaged all the time the rioting lasted.

THE TORCH APPLIED

Towards midnight the mob after having wrecked and looted all the taverns in the vicinity returned to McCloskey's and set it on fire. The glare attracted the police who returned and marched down there [illegible] put out the fire and save the town from conflagration. They had to fight for every foot of way they made. At times, when the flames flared high, the sight of uniformed officers scattered among the mob filling the street from house to house each officer fighting on his own account and all in the same direction, every man shouting or swearing, women and children at the windows shrieking and gesticulating was terrible. Finally the police got together and carried on their battle with buckshot. This eventually scattered the mob [illegible] the fire at McCloskey's was put out before it could extend. McCloskey and his family and a number of his Catholic neighbors were rescued from the fury of the mob by an Orangeman who took them to his house and there gave them safe refuge.

MORLEY AT DUBLIN

DUBLIN June 11.—John Morley chief secretary for Ireland has arrived. He is investigating the causes and history of the Belfast riots.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED

LONDON June 11.—The government has placed the districts terrorized by mobs in the province of Ulster under martial law.

THE HOME RULE QUESTION

Proceedings in the House of Commons—A Statement by Parnell, Etc

LONDON June 11.—Childers home secretary replying in the commons this evening, to Deco[illegible] conservative member from Belfast who asked if the government would take steps to prosecute the police who shot down inhabitants of Belfast during the troubles of the last few days said that the government was not informed that there had been any misconduct on the part of the county police in Belfast. The secretary said the government had the fullest confidence in the royal Irish constabulary and did not intend while the present disorders continue to remove them from Belfast and substitute military.

GLADSTONE QUESTIONED

Gladstone was asked in the house of commons this evening by Wm Johnson conservative if it was true as reported that the Earl of Aberdeen Irish viceroy during his recent visit to Cork had [illegible] at the altar of the Catholic cathedral in that city.

Mr Gladstone replied that if the Earl of Aberdeen had done the kneeling of which he was accused he (Mr Gladstone) was not aware of it. He added: "I must decline to institute an inquiry into such a question. It lights the fire of religious discord. I may say however that I have never known a better Christian nor a more perfect Protestant than the Earl of Aberdeen."

The house agreed to give government business precedence during the remainder of the session.

Mr Gladstone in answer to a request for a more explicit statement concerning the reassembling of parliament said: "I wish to restate, clearly what I said yesterday respecting the reassembling of parliament. If when the elections are over it be found that the country does not approve of the policy of the government respecting the future government of Ireland, or if there remains room for doubt on the question, then the new parliament will be assembled forthwith."

Chamberlain's electoral manifesto was made public this evening. It declares that the government's Irish proposals have been condemned in advance by every liberal statesman of the country.

A STATEMENT BY PARNELL

LONDON, June 11.—Mr Parnell has requested the publication of the following: I positively deny that I sought an interview with Earl Carnarvon. I also differ from the earl as to the two conditions upon which he alleges was based the interview, namely that he was acting entirely on his own responsibility and that he declined to hear one word to the detriment of the union. The Earl of Carnarvon did not lay down conditions previously. I admit there was foundation for the third condition mentioned, that is that he hoped it was understood that he was not engaged in making any treaty or bargain. Earl Carnarvon said he sought an interview to ask my views as to a constitution for Ireland. It was soon obvious that he wished to give his own views. Replying to an inquiry in regard to the proposal to establish a central legislature, founded upon county boards I said that I did not think Ireland would accept that as a settlement, that the central body ought to be a parliament in name and in fact, having power to deal with the local government of counties. Earl Carnarvon stated that that was his own position. He also suggested basing the parliament at Dublin on the colonial model. His opinions upon this point struck me as being the result of much thought and study. I remarked that protection of Irish industries from English and foreign competition would be absolutely necessary. The earl replied: "I entirely agree with you. But what a row there will be in England!" I then left believing that we were in complete accord upon the main outlines for plans of settlement of the question of the government of Ireland. I have reason to believe that the earl impressed his views upon the cabinet and that many of his colleagues shared his views also that the earl resigned the lord lieutenantcy of Ireland because we did not give the conservatives a majority at the polls. I spoke at Wicklow and during the elections under the impressions that I had gained from this interview.

SCOTLAND SUPPORTING GLADSTONE

GLASGOW June 11.—The Scotch liberal federation has issued a manifesto to the liberal electors of Scotland urging them to support in the coming elections none but Gladstone candidates. The federation has engaged St Andrew's hall the largest in the city for a mass meeting June [illegible] at which Gladstone will deliver an address and Rosebery will preside.

IMPORTUNING HARTINGTON

LONDON June 11.—Midlothian unionists sent a deputation to wait upon the Marquis of Hartington to-day to ask him to assist them in putting forward a unionist to oppose Gladstone in the coming election. Lord Hartington replied that he would rather see the liberal union split than harass the premier.

THE GLADSTONITES HOPEFUL

NEW YORK June 11.—T. P. O'Connor cables from London to the Star: A hopeful tone is dominant among the Gladstonites. Mr Schnadhorst declares that the prime minister is stronger than ever in the country. Schnadhorst who organized the caucus for Chamberlain has been to great pains to [illegible] are the constituencies where that organization [illegible] to transfer the liberal vote from [illegible] to Gladstone and is delighted with [illegible] success far exceeding his expectations. He has collected reports from special agents in every electoral district in the country showing [illegible] of the liberal split on the Gladstone vote. The result shows that in two thirds of the constituencies represented in the present parliament by Chamberlain dissidents the prospects are promising for a transfer of their seats to Gladstone's candidates. The whig seats are more strongly held. [illegible] probability is that candidates will be found within a week to contest every one of them. [illegible] Birmingham men have invited Parnell to oppose Chamberlain in his own constituency. He is [illegible] that the [illegible] will fatally split the caucus vote even if it does not [illegible] success and enormously strengthen the canvass in other Birmingham districts. Parnell is not likely to accept the proposition agreeable as it would be for him to strike a damaging blow at Chamberlain on his own ground.

ENGLAND

THE CRAWFORD DILKE DIVORCE CASE

LONDON June 11.—The Crawford Dilke divorce case was in court again to-day on the issue of Sir Charles Dilke's right to have the queen's proctor reopen the case in order to enable the member for Chelsea to produce testimony in his own vindication. Crawford asked the court to refuse to allow the proctor to intervene alleging that the only witnesses who would be produced to contradict the confession of Mrs Crawford were Sir Charles himself whom that confession implicated, and his servants. Mr Crawford contended that unless it could be proved that divorce was obtained by collusion which was not alleged the proctor had no right to intervene in Sir Charles Dilke's interest. The judge decided that the proctor had a right to interfere, if the fresh evidence now offered by Fanny Stock and Sarah Gray was material evidence, showing that the [illegible] charges were untrue. Continuing the judge said that the queen's proctor must himself [illegible] the suggestion that he intervened in Sir Charles's interest. The judge said he himself [illegible] believe the suggestion. He was certain the [illegible] not violate the duties of his office. [illegible] refused to make Mrs Crawford [illegible] Sir Charles Dilke parties to the proctor's [illegible] to enable them to be heard by counsel.

THE ASCOT RACES

LONDON June 11.—At Ascot to-day the race for the Hardwicke stakes over the Swinley course was won by the duke of Westminster's three year old bay colt Ormonde, the four year old colt Melton second and the three year old bay colt Silver third.

The race for the Alexandra plate about three miles had but three starters. The six year old chestnut horse [illegible] won the four year old [illegible] Althorp second and the four year old bay colt [illegible] third.

FRANCE

THE EXPULSION BILL.

PARIS June 11.—The chamber of deputies resolved by a vote of 310 to 233 to consider the committee's clause enacting the immediate expulsion of all princes. Fifty members of the left voted with the minority. The chamber subsequently rejected the first clause of the committee bill enacting general expulsion. The vote was 314 to 220.

After further debate the chamber by a vote of [illegible] to [illegible] adopted an amendment making the expulsion of the chief pretenders compulsory, the expulsion of other members of former reigning families to be optional with the government. After a vigorous protest from M. Ornane Bonapartist clauses two and three were adopted. They empower the government to expel, by decree, princes not affected by clause one, provide penalties of two to five years imprisonment if they return to France and disfranchise princes remaining in French territory. Finally the whole bill was passed without division. The chamber then adjourned until Tuesday.

GERMANY

KING LUDWIG HOLDS THE FORT

MUNICH June 11.—A deputation of ministers of the Bavarian cabinet to-day proceeded to Hohenschwangau castle to present a letter to the deposed King Ludwig from Prince Leopold. They found the castle locked and they were not permitted by the king's pickets to enter. The ministry subsequently sent a force of gendarmes to the castle to force an entrance for the purpose of releasing Count Holstein who while visiting the king last evening on ministry business concerning the regency was arrested by Ludwig's order and locked up in the castle. Gendarmes have been detailed to preserve order among the mountain population surrounding the castle the mountaineers being loyal adherents of the king and of dangerous temper because of the state's conduct toward him. King Ludwig remains in a most absolutely secluded part of the castle.

PORT MOODY B C June [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The effect of the interview in THE OREGONIAN of June 1 with Mr. McLagan of the Victoria Times in which he depicted in glowing terms (of course not colored by the town lots he owns there) was rather dampened by your editorial statement in another column that nobody ever knew a town owned and "boomed" by a railroad to be much of a town. That well known fact is considered by sensible people who are besought to invest in Vancouver property. Port Moody people are perfectly willing that Vancouver may have the advantage of any boom the railroad company may be able to get up, resting assured that nature's dictum will finally decide which is to be the place. People of sense fight shy of railroad town booms and it is so in this case. As an evidence of the desperate state of the Vancouver speculators it may be stated that they went to Capt. Dunn of the ship Titania laden with iron piles for rebuilding the big railway wharf here and told him that it would be exceedingly dangerous and almost impossible to come up here. The captain who is very careful and proud of his vessel was on the point of discharging the piles in Victoria when Capt Irving manager of the C P N Co informed him that there was no [illegible] in coming here. Since coming up Capt. Dunn has published a testimonial that the harbor here is one of the best in the world for safety, [illegible] safety of access and everything that goes to make a first-class port, and [illegible] reason other than a speculative one for the removal of the terminus of the C P R and that in his opinion the superior advantages of Port Moody will soon make it the [illegible] point.

PROBABLY A METEOR.

TILLAMOOK June [illegible]

[illegible] o'clock M. [illegible] noise was heard similar to a heavy blast. It was heard at many points along the coast on Trask river fourteen miles from Tillamook, on the Nestucca and Wilson rivers and at the mouth of the bay. It was in the west and seems to have been many miles at sea. It is believed here to have been either a meteor or boiler explosion, and it was accompanied by a [illegible] sound. It can be compared to nothing but a heavy blast.

[illegible] ALS IN HARD TIMES

The superficial morals of the people are always better in hard times. The freedom with which a man spends his money usually represents the difficulty with which he has won it—that is why rich men's sons are apt to be lavish, the dollars they fling away represent no memories of anxious toil, privation and self-denial; that is why a bandit is always generous with his guineas—they represent no toil or pains beyond the effrontery necessary to steal a purse; that is why swindlers as a rule are extravagant—for they win not by honest, laborious industry, but by the immoral use of their wits to cozen honest industry out of its legitimate accumulations and going up higher in the scale, men who win money honestly but win it easily in flush times are free in their habits and expenditures for the same reason that rich boys, bandits and swindlers are lavish—the money came easy and will go [illegible]. Flush times are times of monetary extravagance, times of animal indulgence, times of gambling, guzzling and kindred vice. Hard times always show a great improvement in [illegible] in this respect. No man short of [illegible] will be less drinking and gambling when he holds hard to his dollar than when [illegible] with little [illegible] In [illegible] many [illegible] to be [illegible] to be, and [illegible] natures [illegible] temperance [illegible] a dollar [illegible] cannot [illegible] longer [illegible] the [illegible] ially in which they have been tempted by flush times to indulge. Buckle, in his History of Civilization, states the number of marriages in England has always [illegible] with the price of corn, and so [illegible] of an honest man's luxuries fluctuates with the price of his labor. The amount of [illegible] ardent spirits consumed in Great Britain falls off enormously in hard times and as [illegible] with good times, which brings us to our first conclusion, that men are about as [illegible] as they can [illegible] to be.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

Simultaneously with the publication of the report of the United States grand jury at Seattle concerning the anarchist organization in that town, a similar jury at Chicago submitted a report relative to the anarchist organization there. The reports are strikingly alike. Compare this from the Chicago jury with that of the Seattle jury, published last week.

The evidence has shown conclusively to us [the Chicago grand jurors] that these men [the anarchists] were manipulating this agitation from base and selfish motives for the power and influence which it gave them and for the money they could make out of it; that the large majority of their followers were simply their dupes; that they have collected in this way very large sums of money from these followers and from the working men of this city; that their plan was to involve so far as they could not only the socialist and communist organizations with whom they claim some kindred, but also the labor societies and trades unions to the end that in the midst of the excitement they were creating, they could not only rely upon them as a source of revenue, but also have them to fall back upon in the event of their finally being made amenable to the law.

The Seattle grand jury defines the purposes of the anarchists to be robbery, arson and murder; the Chicago grand jury says it is "plunder, destruction and massacre." It looks as if the biggest [illegible] and the little nest at Seattle were [illegible] with [illegible] of the same feather [illegible] to the same or [illegible] statement [illegible] as an exaggeration.

Rev. A. [illegible] The Dalles, [illegible] Mr. Bronaugh [illegible] was published. Mr. Bronaugh was [illegible] and then Mr. Brongeest wrote a [illegible] letter in reply to that reply, but it was not published when he wanted it published, so he [illegible] the office and withdrew it, and now [illegible] he was unfairly treated. Mr. Brongeest should be reasonable. He should know that a newspaper can not let a dispute run on indefinitely, and moreover he ought to know that though a paper may be willing to publish an article it may not be able to publish it just at the time that may suit the writer's convenience. Mr. Brongeest says "It is creditable to a newspaper to allow him at whom a lick is made to return that lick." Certainly. So when Mr. Brongeest "made a lick" at Mr. Bronaugh the latter was allowed to return it, and Mr. Brongeest's present cause of complaint is that he was not allowed to "go on with the mill," without consulting the rules of the ring or the authority or convenience of the referee.

We have a letter from Marion county in which it is hotly declared that the senators elect for that county "do not belong to the Mitchell-Hirsch combination, and it also asserted that they will undoubtedly vote for submission of the prohibition amendment." It was not asserted by THE OREGONIAN that the Marion senators were in this combination, and yet it thinks it altogether probable that the political ring of Portland made the whisky ring of Portland believe that those senators could be "controlled" in that behalf. It is a well known habit of the ringsters to promise goods which they are not able to deliver.

How completely THE OREGONIAN is discomfited by the result of the election the ring organ attempts to show by reprinting some things which THE OREGONIAN said about Mr. Pennoyer in March last. THE OREGONIAN'S defeat and disappointment are sad indeed. But then, you know, we couldn't reasonably hope to win. We were sold out by our state committee. But why taunt misfortune? It should at least be entitled to respect.

New Multnomah county is waiting for some gentleman to rise up and nominate Messrs. Hirsch and Simon for state senators in 1888.

The new governor will take office in January. Hitherto the change has been made in September, but the time for the meeting of the legislature has been changed to January, and as the constitution requires the vote for governor to be canvassed and declared by the legislature, the beginning of the gubernatorial term will be in January hereafter.

PENNOYER AT OREGON CITY

Outpouring of the Citizens to Ratify his Election

OREGON CITY, June 11

The people of Oregon City celebrated the election of Hon. Sylvester Pennoyer, governor, and the general success of the democratic party, with speeches, fireworks and cannon, at the park. Mr. Pennoyer, Judge Kelly, J. B. Costello and others of Portland arrived on the evening train, and were met at the depot by prominent citizens, accompanied by the brass band and escorted to the Cliff house. In the evening a party of ladies and gentlemen arrived on the City of Salem. At 8 o'clock the Park was filled and the distinguished gentlemen were conducted to the stand. Hon. John Myers presided and in a few fervent words introduced Mr. Pennoyer, who came forward amid rousing cheers and delivered the following short but pointed address:

Fellow citizens of Clackamas County: I am glad to meet with you to-night. I could not find it in my heart to refuse acceptance of your kind invitation to participate in your rejoicings, inasmuch as you have honored me with a vote that is so very flattering to me. And I here most heartily thank you, fellow citizens of Clackamas, both democrats and republicans, for the cordial support you have given me. I am well aware, however, that such vote was not given for personal reasons, but because by such vote you could give emphatic expression to your earnest convictions upon a question of paramount interest to you and your children. You have by that vote declared your unalterable determination that Oregon shall be forever the home of free labor and not a land infested with alien Chinese serfs. You have declared that the legacy of free government and civilized institutions bequeathed to you by the founders of the state of Oregon shall be handed down to succeeding generations absolutely unimpaired. Let this determination of yours be as fixed as the everlasting hills and as unalterable as the stern decrees of fate itself. Let it prompt every thought, let it inspire every action, let it control every vote and you will accomplish the good work and leave Oregon to your children as the home of free labor. This fair town of yours in the earlier settlement of this state was the particular spot where the hardy immigrant of forty years ago brought his long journey to a halt. God bless those noble men and women who thus early planted here on this spot the foundations of free government. Now, fellow citizens, do you for one moment suppose that those hardy old pioneers would have braved all the toil and all the hardships of that long and wearisome journey across the almost trackless plains stretching between the Missouri river and Oregon if they had entertained even the remotest suspicion that they were migrating to a country where their children might be compelled to compete with an alien servile race for their daily bread? No, fellow-citizens, such a suspicion would have absolutely retarded emigration and checked the growth of our state. They never would have come to a country where their children would have been subjected to such a contingency. And now the question comes to you, their descendants, and to every well wisher of Oregon. Will you be less true to the welfare of your children than were your ancestors? Are you willing to leave to them the possibility of being compelled to compete with a servile alien race for a livelihood? There is no man within the sound of my voice or in all Oregon who is willing to do this. Then each and all have a solemn duty to perform and that is to never cease effort until the soil of Oregon shall be entirely freed from the presence of the Chinese. Let us leave this state as the founders declared it should become, the home only of free labor. This is a most solemn duty that we owe to our children who are to succeed us here.

There is no incentive in the human breast more potent or honorable than that which impels us to lay broad and deep the foundations for our children's welfare. For this we inculcate habits of industry, sobriety and reverence. For this we build school houses and churches and for this we adorn and beautify our homes. For this we seek to throw around them all those influences which are ennobling and banish all those influences which are degrading. Impelled by this inborn sentiment interwoven into every fibre of human nature, the people of Oregon declared with one united voice that the Chinese must go. Our fair valleys and fertile plains shall not any longer be desecrated by the presence of a pagan slave labor, nor shall our populous cities [illegible] much longer contaminated with pagan filth and heathen abominations. The civilization of the nineteenth century is utterly incompatible with that effete barbarism which has made no progress since the advent of the Christian era. One or the other must be supplanted from the soil of our state, and see you to it, freemen of Oregon, that this land, dedicated to free labor shall remain alone the rightful heritage of our children and our children's children to the latest generation.

Upon the conclusion of Gov. Pennoyer's address the ladies present literally covered him and the stand with boquets and wreaths.

Mr. Pennoyer was followed by Judge J. K. Kelly, who spoke at length on state and national politics, paying especial tribute to the character, public and private, of the governor elect, and of the democratic party. The judge on the conclusion of his speech was presented with a great number of boquets. He was followed by Col. W. L. White, who made a characteristic speech which was heartily appreciated. The colonel was elected county judge at the late election by two majority, but that was sufficient. He was followed, in a few remarks by J. B. Costello, of Portland. He was also complimented by the ladies with flowers. After the speeches there was a fine display of fireworks and the multitude dispersed feeling well pleased with the visit of the next governor.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

TANNER CREEK CULVERT —Messrs R L Durham, Henry Hewett and William M Ladd appointed by the council to recommend a plan of sewage for Tanner's creek have submitted a report They recommend that the present culvert be continued in its present course from B street to D thence through block 84, Couch's addition to the intersection of F and North Eleventh streets thence along North Eleventh to the Willamette river They further recommend that a sewer be constructed of brick and cement six feet inside diameter They estimate the cost at $7 per running foot making a total of $26,000, but think that by competition of contractors this may be somewhat reduced They further recommend that the cost be assessed on all lots and fractions of lots and tracts of land lying west of North Eleventh street and upon such lots lying east of said streets as will be tributary thereto by reason of grade It is estimated that the cost per lot would not exceed $30 and they add that the recent construction of a sewer in D street renders prompt action an absolute necessity

NOT INCARCERATED IPSO FACTO —S S Wittermood, whose bondsmen surrendered him on Thursday and who was committed to the county jail called at the Telegram office yesterday to say that he was not deprived of his liberty at all, and that new bonds were furnished at once The U S marshal delivered him over to the jailer of this county with a regular commitment ordering that he be kept safe If the jailer took the responsibility of not depriving Mr Wittermood of his liberty he did more than he is required to do, and if the prisoner had taken a notion to escape the jailer would be liable to be sent to the penitentiary As to the new bonds being furnished at once, Judge Deady did not make the order reducing the bonds till yesterday The matter is of no more consequence than Wittermood himself who only desires a little notoriety by asking that a true statement be corrected

BODY BROUGHT HOME.—The body of Albert J Van Fridagh of this city, who was drowned at St Paul on the evening of the 4th inst, will arrive here to-morrow and will be buried from the residence of his parents corner Twelfth and B on Monday The Pioneer Press of the 15th has the following particulars of the accident The steamer left St Paul last evening for an excursion down the river It had been chartered by the Young Men's Social club and about thirty young people were aboard it or the barge which was attached Young Van Fridagh accidentally walked off and before the boat could be stopped was lost There was no liquor on board the boat and the accident appears to have been due to his own carelessness in venturing on a dangerous portion of the boat He was very popular with his associates

THE SALMON RUN —Advices from Astoria regarding the run of salmon are very conflicting and it is quite impossible to obtain definite information The canneries above are securing but few fish and those of them having boats below Astoria are not doing well Should the Columbia river continue falling next week a considerable improvement in the run may be expected Figures regarding the pack to date are not furnished although statements for June have been promised. There is little doubt but the output is behind that of this time last year There are yet seven weeks of the canning season Usually foreign shipments have commenced late in May or early in June This year no vessels have as yet sailed.

CO G'S EXCURSION TO DAY —Every arrangement for the comfort and convenience of those attending the first Olympian excursion to the seaside to-day has been made, and its success is assured Governor elect Pennoyer and family will, in all probability be among the guests and it is understood that should he attend, the Astorians have prepared a rousing reception in his honor The box at the opera house which has been tendered him has been handsomely decorated and the advance sale of tickets for the minstrel performance is very large The steamer will leave Ash street dock at 1 30 P M sharp to-day Tickets will be sold at the dock up to the hour of starting

ONE ABUSE TO BE STOPPED —Hon. Henry McGinn the district attorney elect, said yesterday to a friend and did not give it out as a secret either that he intended to use his best endeavors to break up one abuse of justices' courts. Cases which originate in the city will not be tried in Fulton precinct if he can help it The law provides that witnesses residing within two miles of a justice court shall not receive fees for attendance but if a case which might be tried in any of the city precincts is taken to the Red House the witnesses come in for fees and mileage This practice has been abused and there will be a stop to it

SMASHED GLASSWARE.—Fred Love was fined $20 in the police court yesterday for throwing a stone through the window of a notorious whisky hole at the corner of Front and Main streets and smashing some bottles of the tarantula juice kept for sale there by Mr Chas Triever The place is eminently disreputable in every way, and Love it seems was fired out just why is difficult to imagine and in a spirit of retaliation he smashed things and was very properly fined Whereupon he swears out a warrant for the arrest of Mr Triever for selling liquor to minors It is to be hoped that he will also be properly fined

COMMENDABLE ENTERPRISE. — Appreciating the intense desire on the part of all classes to hear the election returns as fast as they could be obtained Messrs Hausman & Neustadter 125 First street, prepared bulletins from returns as they came to THE OREGONIAN office Bulletin after bulletin was placed before their door and so eager were the crowd that the last dispatch was scanned with interest as it appeared The firm deserve credit for the energy displayed in giving the public the news piecemeal and which appeared at length in THE OREGONIAN

Y M C A EXCURSION —Arrangements are being completed to make this the excursion of the season The plan at present is to leave the foot of Morrison street at 7 30 P M accompanied by a full brass band arrive at Vancouver at 8 45 and proceed to the park where an open air concert in which it is expected two bands will participate will take place leaving promptly at 10 and arriving in Portland a few minutes past 11 o'clock Refreshments will be served on board, and hot weather and a good time may be expected

RESIGNED —Mrs H K Hines so long president of the Oregon Women's Christian Temperance Union has resigned on account of the ill health of herself and daughter Mrs Hines has done a grand work in laying the foundation of so many flourishing unions in the state and the ladies give her up with many regrets Mrs A R Riggs being the first vice president for the state takes her place, and will in a week or ten days enter upon her duties as state president

BEAUTIFUL MAP —Messrs A Anderson & Co of this city have just completed a handsome pocket map of Chehalis county, W T lithographed in colors and bound in gilt embossed covers This, we believe is the first home production of the kind from this city or the Northwest, and in point of execution it ranks fully equal to any that we have seen from Eastern establishments Such enterprise as this firm displays is certainly commendable

AGITATOR SURRENDERED —One of the Oregon City agitators named Belisle, for whom John Myers and Dr Ross gave bond attempted to leave yesterday unbeknown to his bondsmen Mr Myers therefore surrendered him to the U S marshal who placed him in jail Belisle claims that he has been out of work for some time and not being able to find employment in Oregon City he was going off to seek it elsewhere

THE CASINO —Another large house greeted the second representation of "The Three Black Manties" at the Casino last night all the little defects of the first night's performance were unnoticeable and a very smooth performance was given Miss Winifred and Messrs Kelly and Pyke seem to be the favorites of the new company The Blue Manties is one of the best pieces ever produced here and will doubtless draw crowded houses

REUNION OF OREGON PIONEERS —Arrangements have been made with the steamer Multnomah to take the pioneers to Oregon City Tuesday June 15 leaving her wharf foot of Alder street at 10 A M after the arrival of the west side train giving the Washington county pioneers an opportunity to get there in time to participate in the celebration Boat will remain until after the camp fire

DEATH FROM ALCOHOLISM —Charles Morgan aged 40 years, a native of Reading Pa was found dead in the hallway of the Home Hotel at East Portland early yesterday morning The remains were taken charge of by the coroner and an inquest held The jury returned a verdict of death from heart disease induced by chronic alcoholism And her victim of the beer hall and whisky mill

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT —In the case of Richet Bros against Ora Green and Josephine Green tried before Judge Smith to recover $1.20 for goods sold to Mrs Green and charged to Mr Green which he didn't pay and the plaintiff believed to have recourse on Mrs Green, the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant They were out less than five minutes

MATINEE AT THE PAVILION —This afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Pavilion the Martha Washington Guards will repeat their exhibition of Wednesday night in connection with other important exercises, and in order to give the public schools and others who have not witnessed this fine broom drill an opportunity to do so. The admission will be placed at 10 cents

ONE DAY TRIP —The Grace church excursion on the Olympian to the seaside next Saturday need not cost more than the price of a ticket, as it is a one day trip leaving at A M and returning at 10 P M A basket picnic can be enjoyed at Ilwaco or Fort Canby or table room will be furnished on the Olympian to those who desire it

THE WILLAMETTE BRIDGE is a certainty East Portland real estate is booming. Don't lose this opportunity Attend the auction sale of East Portland real estate to be held at the office of Oldendorff Monnastes & Co, No 50 First St at 11 A M, Saturday, June 12

CHILDREN'S DAY —There will be special services at many of the churches in the city to-morrow especially for the children of the Sunday schools At some places there will be speaking and singing by the children and the churches will be decorated

Twenty-Four Hours to Live.

From John Kuhn Lafayette Ind who announces that he is now in "perfect health we have the following "One year ago I was, to all appearance, in the last stages of Consumption Our best physicians gave the case up I finally got so low that our doctor said I could only live twenty-four hours. My friends then purchased a bottle of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS which considerably benefited me. I continued until I took nine bottles, and I am now in perfect health."

THE ELECTION.

Waldo's Friends Concede the Election of Strahan.

McBride's Majority Dwindling—Pennoyer's Majority Above Three Thousand Votes—Tabulated Returns

The latest returns and estimates as to the vote for state officers are embodied in the table given below Those counties marked thus * are official and others are estimates In every instance excepting Curry the estimates are based upon partial returns in [illegible] to the mark Curry county has not been heard from but it is thought safe to assume a republican majority of [illegible] The friends of Judge Waldo have given up all hope of his election and concede the election of Strahan by a narrow margin probably less than 100 votes. McBride's election which has been considered certain was put in some doubt late last evening by a private dispatch from Baker county to the effect that Gibson's majority in that county was between 75 and 100 in place of 1 0 formerly reported This if true narrows McBride's margin to less than 100 votes There is reason however to question the correctness of the dispatch which came too late to be repeated in time to permit of further inquiry last night It is hardly possible that the correspondent of THE OREGONIAN at Baker City, who communicated with this office yesterday afternoon could have overlooked so important a change from the figures formerly given Should McBride suffer this loss he stands a good chance of pulling through by a slender majority however

In the following table account only is taken of the candidates between whom there may be said to have been a contest The prohibition vote is not reckoned there being no reports respecting it from many of the counties

CLAIM FOR QUICKSILVER NEVER MINED —In the state circuit court yesterday H D Ray and S J Doty commenced an action at law against Elizabeth Hodge executrix of the estate of Charles Hodge, deceased Plaintiffs set up that July 5 1885 the Bonanza Gold and Quicksilver Mining company delivered to James I Napier and John Winterburn and their assigns its certain lease of its mining property in California precinct Douglas county Oregon, for five years and by the terms of the lease Napier and Winterburn were to have exclusive control of the mine and to keep employed not less than two men and whenever there should be five hundred tons of ore sufficient in value to justify reduction to have the same reduced and pay over to the Bonanza company one tenth of all the quicksilver That July 16, 1881 Napier and Winterburn sold an undivided one-half of the lease to these plaintiffs Ray and Doty That September 29 Ray and Doty sold their interest to Charles Hodge for $4000 the sum of $1500 to be paid at the time of the transfer and the remaining $2500 when 250 flasks of quicksilver should be produced. Plaintiffs say the $1500 was paid over and that Hodge and Napier and Winterburn worked the mine until May 1883 when they abandoned it, and that if according to agreement they had worked it until May 1883 250 flasks of quicksilver could have been produced The remaining $2500, according to plaintiffs statement was never paid On Charles Hodge's decease they put in their claim to the executors of the estate and it was disallowed Judgment is therefore asked from the county for $2500 together with interest and costs.

FROM THE PINE VALLEY MINES.

[Correspondence of The Oregonian

THE SONG OF PINE CREEK
"I chatter chatter as I flow
Towards the brimming river,
And men may come and men may go
But I keep on forever"

In twenty five years observation and experience in California, Nevada Utah and Arizona I have never seen a mining district where the conditions for the economical reduction of ores were as perfect as they are here. Every claim contains within its boundaries timber and wood enough to supply its working necessities for years, and every claim is within 200 to 2500 yards of Pine creek or its tributaries, and, at the dryest season of the year there is enough water running to drive 10 000 stamps

There are few water power quartz mills on this coast, because there are few mining districts where the nearest stream is convenient to the mines, and to bring water a long distance through flumes and pipes, and keep these in order is often more expensive than to erect and run steam power On the Comstock the nearest available water power was at Empire City on the Carson river eighteen miles distant and at Steamboat creek, in Washoe valley fourteen miles distant and the power when reached was extremely limited in capacity Neither at Aurora, Bodie White Pine Austin, Belmont or Eureka is there a stream of water within twenty miles with capacity to turn a twelve foot turbine wheel At White Pine water for domestic use was brought over [illegible] hill at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars. At Tombstone in Arizona over half a million dollars were expended in bringing water from the Huachuca mountains thirty miles away In several of the mining districts in Arizona the mills are idle part of the time for the want of water to generate steam and even in the California foothills where there are a few gold quartz mills propelled by water power the water is brought in ditches for many miles and

"— the golden shower
Is sold by the hour

Again the busy and cunning agents of the San Francisco foundries have always discouraged the construction of water mills, because their use would deprive the foundries aforesaid of the large profits to be derived from the manufacture and sale of steam engines and boilers Specious reasons for using steam rather than water power could always be presented The anointed tongue of the agent of the iron works and the anointed palm of the superintendent of the mining company were when combined too much for the dazed directors and many a steam engine has been purchased and run to the detriment of stockholders when a wooden turbine or Knight wheel would have furnished the same power at one-tenth the cost for the plant and one-twentieth the cost of running

Let us compare for a moment the relative cost of steam and water power You employ an engineer and fireman and probably a helper for the day and a similar crew for the night and you have two choppers a teamster and four horses to supply the wood to keep the fire burning There are nine men and four animals in all employed—to do what To make a big wheel go around with perfect regularity of revolution and with power sufficient to raise twenty stamps weighing 16 000 pounds a distance of twelve inches ninety times a minute Yet here the crystal messengers are hurrying to the sea, traveling day and night, and every drop of them is perfectly willing to travel over the top of your big wheel and give it a push as it goes without charging a cent. You can discharge your nine men and let your four horses go to grass and tireless patient Nature will do their work with an exactness and fidelity and power that the ingenuity of man can never rival To drop metaphor and use the plainest phrase a forty horse-power engine and boiler covered with the necessary buildings and set up on the bank of Pine creek ready to work will cost $10 000. A 300-foot ditch and a water wheel in the same place and furnishing the same power will cost $500 The steam engine will cost $35 per day to run and the water wheel will cost nothing

A SILVER CAMP ALSO.

Pine creek above Elk creek resembles the fabled shield hung upon the guideboard on the king's highway—the shield which caused two knights to quarrel because one side of it was made of silver and the other side of gold. The mountain to the left of Pine creek contains the Whitman Con V Allen and Forest Queen and higher up the Union Companion, Red Jacket and Emmet and still higher the Red Boy Mountain Chief Queen of the West and half a hundred more not so well known to fame, all of them gold mines with only a small percentage of silver The mountains to the right of Pine creek contain the Persia the Harkrider the six claims of Simmons & Williamson the Buckeye the Annie Gilmore, the Harvest Queen the Oregonian and the leading mine of the district the Contact all of them silver mines with only a small percentage of gold The gold ores though rich and some of them very rich are with a few exceptions not free milling and will generally require roasting

The silver ores on the contrary though they contain more or less galena can generally be worked up to 80 per cent by the ordinary pan process without roasting

From the greater economy with which the silver ores can be worked and the smaller investment required for mills which demand no furnaces it is altogether possible that the silver mines will shortly take the lead here and that this will be known as a silver camp before it acquires a reputation as a gold camp

WHAT IS WANTED

Very much will depend upon whether the coming capitalists shall invest first on the east or on the west side of Pine creek The capitalist ah

For him we wait
For him we pray
For him we clamor every day
The capitalist,
So long missed
When will he be here mister say

We have enough tin horn sports prospectors who wait to be grub staked and experts who have influence with Flood and Mackay we need a few men with a little money and a little sand to start a 20 foot prospect shaft

MINERS MEETING

The miners held a meeting here last Tuesday night repealed section 24 of the United States revised statutes and resolved that $50 worth of excavation shall constitute $100 worth of work

OTHER ITEMS

A scrapping match on Sunday night came near eventuating in a shooting scrape on Tuesday evening but wiser counsels prevailed differences were explained and adjusted and now all is serene

If the weather remains fair there ought to be by fall the biggest crop of reduction works in this canyon that the world ever saw Everybody has been planting mill sites

Both sawmills are running full time the little sampling mill across the creek is nearly completed the snow is about gone and good ore in the Whitman shaft a rich strike in the Copland Allen plenty of chloride silver in the Contact and four feet of rich ore in the Simmons mine is the cheering news which comes to us from the hills

June 1886 PIONEER

THEY CAN'T DELIVER MR DICK

PORTLAND June 10 1886

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your issue of this morning you say "It is now charged that J M Dick republican candidate for the senate in Lane county was one of those to whom the support of the whisky crowd was to be given under the bargain with the political ring of Portland It is known that instructions went out from the Liquor Dealers association of Portland to the saloon men of Lane county to give their support to Dick"

Having been well acquainted with Mr Dick for more than twenty years I cannot believe that he has entered into any bargain either with the liquor dealers or the corrupt Portland ring, Mr Dick has often been put forward by the republicans of Lane county as a standard bearer within the last twenty five years and in the many bitter political contests that have been waged in that county not one word has ever been spoken or written against his honor or integrity

If the whisky men are reduced to that strait that their hope is in men of the character of J M Dick then, indeed do they stand in slippery places and the dawning of the day of their overthrow is not far off. The purity of Mr Dick's public and private life should protect him from such insinuations as are sought to be cast upon him in the above extract.

In our denunciations of the corrupt ring and its outrageously wrong doings let us be careful of our own cyclonical tail that it does not wrap itself about a pure and noble man and mark him with the stripes which alone should be borne by these political corruptionists and debauchers of public morals. JUSTICE.

STATEMENT FROM MR STEEL

PORTLAND June 11

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

An item appeared on the editorial page in your issue of the 10th inst giving the vote of precinct No. 2 South Portland with comments reflecting upon myself. Will you kindly give me space to correct an erroneous impression that may have been created by such statement

I not only voted for Mr Waldo myself but took special care to have a full supply of straight republican tickets with his name thereon on hand at all times during the day of election and did not peddle republican tickets with Strahan's name in place of Waldo's, as stated in another place but destroyed all bogus tickets that I could get possession of. It is true there were extraordinary efforts made in that precinct for Mr Strahan but by persons over whom I had no control, a number of whom were entire strangers to me. Furthermore much the largest part of the vote cast there probably three-fourths or more was by "vest pocket voters," that is by those who prepared their tickets away from the polls. Under such circumstances it is certainly unjust to hold me personally or wholly responsible for the result

So far as the "whisky ring" is concerned I made no arrangement or agreement with them in any way shape or manner do not know who constitute the organization if any exists, and certainly I was never interviewed by them or asked to make pledges in any way Neither have I made pledges to any other organizations or persons on any question. I go to the senate free from all entanglements and will do in all things as my conscience and judgment may dictate C A STEEL.

A TERRIBLE SNOWSTORM IN LINN COUNTY.

ALBANY June 10,

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The election just held proves that there is such a thing as honesty in politics and parties, though slow to resist an insult when driven to do so can punish the wrongdoers with potent vigor The state ticket in this county comes to the front with over 300 democratic majority, while the county ticket ranges from 200 to 300 democratic With this large majority it would seem worse than useless for the opposing party to enter the field asking for favors, but at the democratic county convention against the earnest importunities of the better class of democrats the convention nominated Hon T J Black for senator and Hon J H Montanye for representative. Both received the title of "honorable" by being members of the last legislature and both gentlemen violated the code of political ethics by voting for Mitchell A bitter frown of indignation pervaded the county as soon as the announcement was made that an effort was on foot to recognize Mitchell No sooner had the republicans put their ticket in the field than a general uprising of democrats declared that ring shackles should be broken and the principles of democracy should be sustained against the tyranny of dictatorial rulers A determined effort was made on the part of the ringmasters to whip the party into submissive acknowledgment of Mitchell's leadership Black and Montanye didn't care for the office, but they proposed to have the endorsement of their party for their Mitchell vote The result of the election shows Dawson a rank republican elected over Black by 518 majority the legitimate democratic majority being say 300 That shows Hon Black's Mitchell record under just 800 behind his party Lovell another rank republican in democratic Linn beats Hon Montanye who voted for Mitchell [illegible] votes Add to this 300 legitimate democratic majority and Mr Montanye with his Mitchell record is in his political grave just [illegible] votes under the snow

Mitchell republicans mustered every vote they could control for these men but with all that they [illegible] the earth There is no objection to these men outside of their record They are good citizens and ordinarily reasonable men but they now learn that neither of the strong parties in the state propose to willingly be represented in the halls of congress by a political demagogue and general trickster who is as ready to change his name as a chameleon its color

This defeat is simply an expression of the honest yeomanry and practical business men of the county. Hipple's friends (the vote shows they are not numerous) attempt to say Black was defeated on account of an obnoxious bill he introduced in the last legislature Mr Montanye's bills were universally acceptable but he died on the same cross with Black The facts are while Black may have lost a few votes in consequence of his bill, he gained many from the same cause They must look for the cause of their death in the mirror prepared by Mitchell and unless they show an humble repentance for the great wrong they perpetrated on the state by their vote they may expect to be in constant quest of new wigs for their political scalps will be run up on a pole as a warning to many more sinners every time they show their heads They committed suicide by taking an overdose of Hippleism When they repent they will be gladly taken into either the democratic or republican party The defeat of the head of the state ticket by the republicans shows plainly that that party don't want an increase of Mitchell worshippers in its fold

We have a first class poet up in these parts who wrote the following epitaph the day after the election

On the Willamette's placid sand I stand
And cast a weeping sigh
For Hipple's badly busted band
That elected me in a hog's eye
JOSEPH FI

DEFEATED BUT NOT CONQUERED

PORTLAND June 11

Having received under such unfavorable circumstances the vote of one fifth of the people of this county in my favor for the office of district attorney I feel much encouraged to continue the contest with renewed hope and vigor My thanks and the gratitude of the country are due to the men who voted for principle and still more to the noble women who labored so faithfully at the polls for the success of law order and temperance Good men who did not sustain me are now saying that if it could only have been known beforehand that the whisky ring would have resorted to the infamous outrage upon the rights of both parties perpetrated by it on Monday in slaughtering Mr Davis, and knifing Judge Waldo and Mr Catlin I would have been elected But what reason was there for expecting anything better at the hands of the liquor dealers association I warned the people upon reliable information in my letter Saturday that this nefarious work was agreed upon And this is not the first time that just such rascality has been perpetrated by the rum sellers of this city to overthrow the will of the people at our elections nor will it be the last infamy of the same sort practiced by them unless the power to do so is snatched from them by law The farmers of Oregon ought now to have their eyes opened to the true source of the oppression that for years past has been heaped upon them by the corrupt political rings of Portland. No man from an outside county stands any chance for nomination or election to a state office against the will of the ringmasters here The vote of Multnomah county uniformly turns the scale in every close political contest and that vote is always manipulated and polled by corrupt politicians aided by the saloon power All of the abominable schemes that are hatched by Portland jobbers and put through at the expense of the people of the state by means of unfair legislation are carried into effect by such combinations of politic knaves and unprincipled rum sellers of this city They select and elect men who are commissioned to do this dirty work The good people here are powerless to relieve themselves much less the farmers of the country from this villainous tyranny Redemption must come from the granger of the state if it ever comes at all If they will crush the saloons the weapon will thereby be snatched from the hands of these political highwaymen with which they stab the farmers and then like their great prototype Boss Tweed impudently exclaim "What are you going to do about it" Now fellow citizens of the country precincts will you unite throughout the state in endeavoring to procure the passage of a law by our next legislature amending our statute as it now exists so as to require that a petition for license to sell intoxicating liquors in less quantities than one gallon must be signed by a majority of the resident property tax payers of the precinct in which liquor is to be sold and that such petition together with the signatures thereto must be published for the length of time now required by law before being presented to the county court or town or city council to be acted upon This will give the local option to the persons who own homes and are raising families within the precinct to determine whether or not saloons shall be established in their midst and they are the persons and the only persons, who should possess the right to decide that question. Such a petition will probably be presented before the meeting of the legislature for your signatures If you desire to strike the Portland ringmasters corruptionists and monopolists a death blow sign it E C BRONAUGH

THE EAST SIDE

High School Commencement Exercises at Armory Hall Last Evening

The second annual commencement exercises of the East Portland high school took place last evening at Armory hall in the presence of a large and interested audience The hall was most tastefully decorated with festoons of evergreens and pendant floral work intertwined with the national colors, the whole forming a bewitching combination which, in the brilliant gas light, made a scene of beauty lovely to the eye The foreground of the stage was begemmed with blooming plants exotic and native making a fitting frontispiece to the "sweet girl graduates" who were seated in a semi circle just behind The young ladies of the class were dressed in cream-colored nun's veiling delicately trimmed with cream lace and ornamented with nature's floral gems. Mr Edwin Brown the only male graduate was awarded the central place upon the stage and bore his honors gracefully The exercises were inaugurated with a quartette, "I Waited for the Lord" by Mrs Wetzell Miss Wells and Messrs Bullock and Marshall, which was excellently rendered Following this Rev C H Hobart offered prayer after which a quintette by Mrs Wetzell and the Italian quartette, entitled "Go Softly Go Safely" was given "Truth An Allegory" by Miss Anna Kennedy was the first of the graduating papers The young lady read with distinctness a composition of much poetic as well as instructive merit being rewarded with warm applause and generous floral offerings "Decision of Character" was the subject of the next essay by Miss Jennie Mackwood As its title indicates the composition set forth in terse and vigorous language the necessity of firmness of purpose and integrity of action in the various walks of life It was well read and warmly received Mr S Bullock then sang, in his usual good voice a solo entitled "I am Waiting" Following this was Miss Medora Whitfield's essay "On Motion" a most excellent composition setting forth the idea of motion as an actuating and living force in all nature Many practical as well as sublime thoughts were evolved and the fair essayist was generously applauded Mr Edwin Brown's paper entitled "History of East Portland" was of a decidedly humorous character and bristled with local hits which were keenly appreciated Much laughter was provoked by the quaint statements made concerning the wonderful attractions of the east side city The young gentleman received more liberal floral honors if possible, than any of his fair colleagues "Behind the Scenes" was the title of a finished essay by Miss Irene Powell dealing with the minor chords of sorrow and care that lie hidden in the hearts of humanity The fair essayist was the recipient of many beautiful floral testimonials Mrs Wetzell Miss Wells, and Messrs Bullock and Marshall then rendered the beautiful selection from Balfe entitled "From Valleys and Hills" which was generously encored Owing to the length of the programme, however the singers were compelled to decline a response Miss Wilda Buckman's essay "Natural Sciences," was a well written commentary upon the useful character of the sciences as applied to the practical side of life, setting forth the benefit to be derived from careful research in the vast domains which science opens to her votaries. "After Commencement" by Miss Dora McClure contained many feeling words of advice to fellow graduates and affecting sentiments of gratitude to teachers. Mrs Wetzel then sang a solo, "Ernani" after which Rev John W Sellwood delivered a scholarly address to the graduates, which was replete with wise advice Lack of space prevents the publication of this excellent address "My Song," a solo, by Mr Charles Marshall gave that gentleman an opportunity to display basso vocal powers of no mean order Mr J A. Newell chairman of the board of directors then made the presentation of diplomas accompanied by well timed remarks, in which he complimented the graduates upon their excellent efforts and commended the teachers and principal upon the efficient work done during the term just closed Mr Newell's duties also included the presentation of examination certificates to the following scholars of the grammar school who will next term be advanced to the High school Misses Myrtle McCord Lorena Posson, Dora Humphreys Minnie Hoyt Maggie Dolan, Sophia Bene Emma Kennedy and Mary Bell. Prof Wetzel in a few well chosen remarks, thanked the patrons of the schools for their kind co-operation the scholars for their application and the teachers for their faithful services during the year just closed "Sunset" by the Æolian quartette completed the programme after which Rev S P Wilson pronounced the benediction At the close the graduates were warmly congratulated by teachers and friends upon the excellence of their essays and the graceful manner in which they were delivered Professor Wetzell and his corps of assistants were also the recipients of much warm commendation from parents and directors and thus closed an evening of most pleasant entertainment and social enjoyment

WHEAT—A lower range for cargoes is quoted from abroad and all markets wear an easy tone ours being no exception Very little valley wheat is moving, and trade is extremely dull No one appears to want wheat and to sell a very low figure would have to be accepted A 40 ton lot of Walla Walla offered all around brought out but one bid and that of $1 0[illegible] on cars It is currently reported that limits of $1 0[illegible] will be sent out to-morrow On a lot of valley $1 10 only was bid Whether no more than these figures are [illegible] still or whether it is simply a case of "don't want to buy" is left to the trade to figure out The wheat markets are sick and ours is the sickest of all

EGGS—Stocks have accumulated [illegible] not large Market firmer at [illegible] c

BAGS—The reported shading of prices by outsiders at San Francisco forces the opinion that the market is liable to break Possibly there will be no serious decline but a start might bring about much lower prices

SHIPPING NOTES

The Ger bark Undine has completed loading.

The Tillie E. Starbuck is about half loaded

The Oakworth is at the Gas wharf to discharge coal

Six thirty-seconds of the ship Helicon has been sold to Charles F Crowell of Boston by John B Tilford of East Orange N J

The steamship Great Eastern has been sold to be used as a coal hulk at Gibraltar and has been sent from Milford Haven to Liverpool in order to have her engines lifted out It is said that a clothing dealer of Liverpool has hired her for a time and put a circus in one of her big cable tanks which is 75 feet in diameter, a menagerie in one saloon stalls for wares on decks while the trail of the advertising poster will be over the ship and especially on her huge sides

The combing breaker reported by the bark Alden Besse was caused by a rock on which the ship Dorothea struck in 1885 It is described as being about 9 or 10 feet below the surface of low water of a pyramidal form and with deep water all around It bears no name but is marked as Rock near Pratas latitude 21 05 N long 116 40 E

The state of Delaware has compulsory pilotage law somewhat similar to that of New York and other states This law requires that vessels passing in or out of Delaware bay shall take the first pilot who offers his services under penalty of forfeiting a sum equal to the amount of his pilotage Philadelphia pilots cruise in the same waters under Pennsylvania licenses, the Philadelphia pilots charging a lesser rate than the Delaware A steamship master being first hailed by a Delaware pilot engaged a Pennsylvania pilot and the usual suit was instituted The United States court for the district of Delaware denied the claim and decided that this feature of the Delaware pilot laws cannot be sustained This view is taken under the laws of the United States which declare that the master of any vessel coming into or going out of any port situate upon waters which are the boundaries of two states may employ any pilot duly licensed and authorized by the laws of either of the states bounded on such waters to pilot the vessel to or from such port Here is a condition of affairs much like those existing at the mouth of the Columbia Recent decisions upon these same and very similar questions are substantially the same as given by the Delaware court and the cheapest pilots will get the business

THE TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION

PITTSBURG, June 11—At the afternoon session of the International Typographical Union the special committee on the question of the union joining the Knights of Labor presented a lengthy report which was adopted The report after commending the Knights of Labor in the highest terms and pledging them support decides first that the Knights of Labor will not attempt to dictate the course of action of distinctive trades second that they will not cover with the shield of the order men who have been found unworthy to mingle with members of union craftsmen in good standing

The report of the special committee on the use of plate matter was approved The report recommends that the executive council endeavor to induce firms manufacturing plates and that all non union firms be published that local unions be required to interdict the use of plates where a reduction of the working force will ensue Newspapers must be prohibited from using news plates manufactured in non union offices or be declared unfair No subordinate union can take any action regarding the use of plates without the consent of the executive council

The evening session was taken up mostly with unimportant reports and routine business It adjourned at 11 30, to meet in Buffalo next year

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Aftermath Pertaining to the President's Marriage—Love and Lovers

A LOVE IN SECRET

When the rumor of the coming marriage was first announced, it [illegible] something of a shock, probably more from the fact of the president being regarded as a cold-hearted man, and from the [illegible] the couples. Yet [illegible] should not cause surprise History teems with instances of kings and queens and knights and warriors being [illegible] by the arrow of Cupid. [illegible] another to [illegible] woman's love lords stabbed [illegible] groaned and castles were [illegible] fought with [illegible] kingdoms [illegible] wars waged governments overthrown—many of these being directly attributable to the hope of gaining a woman's love or avenging an insult to her name. That was an age of romance and chivalry This age is commercial therefore practical [illegible] in order to love, now, man lives in order to live. The past gave woman [illegible] and idleness the present gives her a working [illegible] and the task of elevating humanity Yesterday she was a queen in theory to-day she is a queen in fact. Love is still alive The elements have been simply re-[illegible] with the most gratifying results in the education of woman and the consequent [illegible] of the world Cleveland is one of the most practical of men He was practical enough [illegible] history to learn a lesson [illegible] and then to follow the promptings of [illegible] heart. [illegible] gained a queen.

The telegraph has carried westward a full description of the wedding It now remains only to [illegible] features. It was stated that Miss Bayard [illegible] of the secretary of state, would be present at the wedding She was not present. The official excuse given was that she was prevented from attending at the last moment. The fact is she felt that she had been slighted by the president, inasmuch as her family [illegible] until some time after the cabinet [illegible] had received theirs. The wife of the secretary of state being dead his daughter naturally assumes [illegible] in society, and therefore when the wives of all the rest of the cabinet officers [illegible] invited to a gathering, it [illegible] been supposed [illegible] was a sequence that would be given an invitation When the invitation did arrive Miss Bayard construed it to mean that the president had at last reached the conclusion that it would be offering an insult to the secretary of state not to invite his daughter and he therefore [illegible] to her against his personal wishes For this reason she sent regrets There was no [illegible] the wedding whose [illegible] were approximated those of Miss Folsom, Miss Cleveland Miss Nelson and Miss Middleton are not usually regarded as young [illegible] by society people. There has been a great deal of comment about the daughters of the cabinet officers not being invited, inasmuch as there are so few of them, but adverse comments in a case like this are ineffective as [illegible] If the unfortunate ones feel slighted their best course to pursue is undoubtedly [illegible] a gentleman [illegible] in gallantry [illegible] would be amusing reading if one were to [illegible] and glance over the immense amount of matter that appeared in at least the eastern newspapers with reference to the president's wedding—the matter that was published before the official notice of the wedding was made [illegible] Seldom has an important event been [illegible] It was [illegible] was obtained it was put [illegible] up before the world so greatly magnified [illegible] They were made. [illegible] The New York Herald was not [illegible] public measures [illegible] laid aside [illegible] Soon after the first rumor of the m[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] great directing power of the Herald, telegraphed from Europe to his bureau at Washington that the Herald must have at least a half column a day from the capital about the marriage. It was really [illegible] difficult to obtain [illegible] news here that [illegible] New York [illegible] gossip [illegible] Herald would of course resent any such [illegible] against newspapers of nearly [illegible] prominence I was chatting with a Herald correspondent [illegible] the morning after Miss Folsom reached New York from Europe, and [illegible] successfully eluded reporters that only one New York paper the Sun and Times, printed a notice of her arrival [illegible] to the correspondent. "I am thanking my stars that I am not in New York city" was the reply "And why?" "Bennett will telegraph me to chop off just about sixteen heads for not securing that item of news," came the response. But it is all over Conjecture [illegible] necessary supposition has been [illegible] for fact and America heartily wishes the President and bride, in their week's
